Welcome to the Oceania Seating Symposium 2027 (OSS2027)

We are delighted to invite you to partner with us as a sponsor or exhibitor for the leading seating, mobility and assistive technology conference in the Oceania region. Guided by our 2027 theme, Possibility in Motion: Mobility, Belonging and Choice, OSS2027 brings together clinicians, researchers, engineers, designers, manufacturers, educators, policymakers, service providers, people with lived experience, advocates and industry leaders — all working toward the same goal: improving lives through innovation, collaboration and evidence-based practice. More than ever, the future of seating and mobility depends on strong partnerships between research, clinical practice, industry and the people who use our technologies and services. Innovation is most powerful when it is developed collaboratively, informed by lived experience, and translated into solutions that create meaningful improvements in participation, health and quality of life.

OSS2027 provides a unique environment where these partnerships can flourish.

Our delegates are the decision-makers and future leaders shaping seating and mobility services across Australia, New Zealand and the broader Oceania region — representing hospitals, rehabilitation services, disability and aged care providers, community organisations, universities, government agencies, funding bodies and private practice. They come actively seeking new technologies, evidence and partnerships that improve outcomes for the people they support.

For sponsors and exhibitors, OSS2027 offers far more than traditional brand exposure. As technology evolves at an unprecedented pace — from artificial intelligence and smart assistive technologies to robotics and digital health — the importance of collaboration between industry and end users has never been greater.

OSS2027 gives you the opportunity to engage directly with a highly specialised audience, showcase innovation, launch new products, and build lasting relationships across clinical, academic, government and industry sectors.

Together, we have an opportunity to shape solutions that are not only technologically advanced, but also practical, accessible, equitable and centred on the needs and aspirations of the people who use them.

By partnering with OSS2027, you help create a vibrant forum where knowledge is shared, innovation is celebrated, and new ideas become real-world solutions — ensuring people with disability, older people and those living with complex health conditions have greater opportunity to participate fully in their communities.

We invite you to join us as a valued partner in delivering an exceptional symposium and helping realise our shared vision of Possibility in Motion. Together, we can create opportunities that extend far beyond the conference itself — building stronger partnerships, accelerating innovation, and enabling more people across Oceania to experience greater mobility, belonging and choice.

We look forward to welcoming you to OSS2027.

Why Partner with OSS2027?

Partnering to Shape the Future of Seating, Mobility and Assistive Technology

The Oceania Seating Symposium 2027 (OSS2027) is more than a sponsorship — it's an opportunity to become part of the region's leading community of practice in seating, mobility and assistive technology, and to engage directly with the people and organisations shaping its future.

Connect with Decision-Makers

OSS2027 attracts the professionals who influence product selection, clinical practice, procurement decisions, research collaborations and policy. Delegates include:

- Public and private hospitals
- Community Health Centres
- Allied Health providers
- Rehabilitation and specialist seating services
- Disability and NDIS providers
- Aged care and home care organisations
- Government departments and funding agencies
- Universities and research institutes
- Engineering and design organisations
- Assistive technology suppliers and manufacturers
- Community organisations and advocacy groups

These are the individuals and organisations shaping the future of assistive technology across the region.

Showcase Innovation

The exhibition is where delegates come to experience the latest technologies, products and services firsthand — from next generation mobility devices, advanced seating systems, digital health, robotics, pressure care innovations, manufacturing technologies, clinical services and AI. Many partnerships formed at OSS continue well beyond the conference, leading to collaborative research, product development and service innovation.

Position Your Organisation as a Leader

Supporting OSS2027 aligns your organisation with:

- Clinical excellence
- Evidence-based practice
- Innovation and research
- Inclusive design
- Lived-experience leadership
- Education and workforce development
- Collaboration across sectors
- Better outcomes for people and communities

A Uniquely Multidisciplinary Audience

Unlike single-discipline conferences, OSS2027 brings together every part of the seating and mobility ecosystem — clinical practice, engineering, manufacturing, disability, aged care, education, policy and research — creating exceptional opportunities to build relationships across sectors.

Join Us

We invite you to partner with OSS2027 and join a vibrant community committed to advancing excellence in seating and mobility, transforming ideas into innovation and innovation into lasting outcomes for individuals, families and communities throughout Oceania.

Theme

Possibility in Motion: Mobility, Belonging and Choice

This theme recognises that seating, mobility and assistive technology are not ends in themselves; they are powerful enablers of human potential. Every innovation, every clinical decision, every research discovery and every policy reform ultimately seeks the same outcome: empowering people to participate fully in the lives, communities and futures they choose. Across Oceania, clinicians, researchers, engineers, designers, manufacturers, educators, policymakers, industry representatives, advocates, carers and people with lived experience are working together to redefine what is possible. Together, we are moving beyond traditional models towards approaches centred on participation, citizenship, autonomy and human rights.

OSS2027 celebrates this evolution.

It invites us to explore how mobility supports not only physical movement, but also social connection, cultural identity, education, employment, recreation, leadership and self-determination. It challenges us to think beyond equipment and interventions, asking how our collective work creates opportunities for people to belong, contribute and thrive throughout every stage of life.

The theme reflects the changing landscape of health, disability and rehabilitation. Our region is responding to significant opportunities and challenges, including an ageing population, the increasing prevalence of chronic conditions, rapid advances in assistive technology and digital health, evolving models of care, workforce development, environmental sustainability, and growing recognition of the expertise of people with lived experience.

Innovation alone is not enough.

True progress occurs when innovation is co-designed with those who will use it, when services are equitable and culturally responsive, when technology enhances rather than replaces human relationships, and when every person has a genuine opportunity to exercise choice and control over their own life. Our diversity is one of our greatest strengths. Our countries, cultures, communities and health systems each bring unique perspectives, experiences and solutions. OSS2027 provides a forum where these diverse voices can come together to exchange ideas, challenge assumptions, inspire innovation and build lasting collaborations that improve outcomes across the region and beyond.

Throughout the symposium, we will explore how seating and mobility intersect with health, disability, ageing, engineering, design, education, policy and community participation. We will celebrate scientific excellence while elevating lived experience, recognising that the most meaningful innovations are those that make a tangible difference in people's everyday lives.

An Invitation to:

- Think differently.
- Embrace innovation with purpose
- Collaborate more deeply.
- Learn from one another.

The Organisers reserve the right to revise the layout of the exhibition hall and/or to transfer a venue to an alternative site, and/or alter the size or shape of any booth. Should any such alteration result in a reduced booth size the booth payment required from the vendor may be reduced pro-rata.
